House Week in Review

It was a roller coaster week in the House of Representatives last week as the House tabled a number of controversial bills and then voted to reconsider the decisions.

Chief among these changes was the vote on H.3003, legislation to extend the 1992 closing deadline on the Barnwell Low-Level Nuclear Waste facility until 1994. On Wednesday, the House tabled the Barnwell extension bill by a 47-46 vote. The tabling vote came after the House tied 41-41 on a vote to continue the bill, which would have the effect of killing the legislation for the session.

However, later on Wednesday, the House voted 59-50 to reconsider the vote tabling the Barnwell legislation. This vote came after the House turned back an attempt to table the vote to reconsider the bill.

A similar scenario was played out in connection with H.4290, legislation to allow the creation of special interest caucuses. On Wednesday, the House voted 58-47 to table the special interest caucus legislation. On Thursday, however, H.4290 was resurrected when the House agreed to reconsider the bill. This occurred after a 30-78 vote against tabling the motion to reconsider the legislation.

A number of noteworthy bills were given third reading and sent to the Senate. Two sparked the greatest debate: H.4160, the school prayer bill and H.4331, the informed decision for abortion legislation.

H.4160, a bill to allow one minute of voluntary silent prayer at the beginning of the school day, prompted comment from House members before both second and third readings. Just before third reading, a motion was made to commit the legislation to the Judiciary Committee before final passage. The House tabled the motion by a 70-23 vote. The House gave the school prayer bill second and third reading on voice votes.

Legislative Update, April 14, 1992

Like the school prayer bill, the House voted cloture on H.4331, the informed decision for abortion bill. After lengthy consideration of amendments to the bill, the House voted down a motion to table the bill 24-77 and gave the bill second reading by a 78-25 vote.

Also given third reading and sent to the Senate last week was H.4086, a bill that would create the crime of stalking.

The House also tabled legislation that would allow divorce proceedings on the grounds of six months of continuous separation.

Legislative Update, April 14, 1992

Bills Introduced

The following bills were introduced in the House of Representatives last week. Not all the bills introduced in the House are featured here. The bill summaries are arranged according to the House standing committee to which the legislation was referred.

Education and Public Works

Propriety Schools Licensing (H.4698, Rep. Phillips). This legislation would give the state Commission on Higher Education sole authority over the licensing of non-public post-secondary institutions. These provisions relate to degree granting and non-degree granting propriety schools, and do not relate to:

- any school, institute, junior college or college chartered before 1953,
- institutions that are independent or church-related,
- grant two or four year degrees,
- accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools,
- are non-profit or primarily based in South Carolina,
- aviation schools,
- programs regulated and licensed by recognized trade, business or professional organizations for their members,
- schools that offer only non-credit review courses to prepare students to take national tests or examinations.

The supervisory authority of the CHE over the proprietary schools would include enforcement of provisions on course offerings, adequate facilities, financial stability, competent personnel, refund policies and legitimate operating practices. The CHE would set standards and would license only those schools that met the standards. A license would be required before the school could solicit students or offer courses. If any changes occur at the school, the school is responsible for notifying the commission. The license of a school is not transferrable to a new owner; the new owner must comply with the CHE standards. Licenses for non-degree propriety schools must be renewed every 12 months; for degree granting schools, every five years.

Legislative Update, April 14, 1992

The legislation prohibits any institution from using the word "college" in its name unless one of its programs leads to an associate or higher degree. An existing institution may continue to use "college" in its name for three years after the effective date of the legislation. The bill also outlines the criteria that must be met in order to use the word "university."

The bill allows the CHE to set fees in order to carrying out its supervisory duties. The bill also authorizes the commission to require institutions to file a surety bond in order to ensure the school will carry out its self-prescribed duties. The bond would be made payable to the CHE and would be used to refund tuition and instructional fees paid by students or potential students. A school could pledge another means of collateral acceptable to the state, instead of a surety bond. The collateral would be kept by the state treasurer.

The CHE could work through the State Attorney General to enforce the provisions and civil penalties of this bill. Civil penalties could range up to $5,000 for each violation. A violation would be considered each degree, diploma or certificate granted by an institution without the required license.

Judiciary

Biological Fathers (H.4701, Rep. Annette Young). Under this legislation, the biological father of a child conceived through rape (criminal sexual conduct) would have no parental rights or privileges. However, the bill would not preclude the court from enforcing any penalties, sanctions or requirements against the biological father as they relate to the child or to the offense itself.

Commission on Prosecution Coordination (H.4713, Rep. Tucker). Under this legislation, the office of pre-trial intervention coordinator would be moved from the state Attorney General's Office and placed under the Commission on Prosecution Coordination, which would oversee administrative procedures for the circuit solicitor's pre-trial intervention programs. The bill would expand the time for applying for the intervention program from 45 days after service of a warrant to 75 days after service of a warrant. The bill also would prohibit drug and alcohol abuse services from being denied an offender because of the offender's inability to pay. All applications for pre-trial intervention, whether accepted or rejected, must be kept on file in the solicitor's office for two years. Information released about an offender participating in a pre-trial intervention program would be a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of up to $2,000 or up to a year in jail.

Legislative Update, April 14, 1992

Labor, Commerce and Industry

Parking Violations and Insurance (H.4685, Rep. Fair). Under this legislation, no parking violation of any kind could cause the automobile insurance premium of the driver or the owner of the car to increase.

Underwriting Association (H.4687, Rep. Felder). This legislation would eliminate the Reinsurance Facility and replace it with the S.C. Automobile Underwriters Association. The underwriters association would use shared risk pooling, a method which would transfer risks to a common pool of shared market consumers with the experience of the pool allocated among the members. Under this bill, specialized insurers could not transfer risks to the underwriting association and would be exempt from participating as a member company. The legislation would eliminate the mandate to write, replacing it with a non-discrimination clause. With the exception of specialized insurers, no insurance agent could refuse to write insurance based on age, sex, marital status, race, religion, national origin, employment or place of residence. If an agent refuses to write a policy, the reason for the refusal must be made in writing if requested by the applicant.

Under this legislation, required insurance limits would be reduced from the current $15,000/$30,000/$5,000 to $10,000/$20,000/$5,000. Like current provisions, no policy which provides automobile physical damage coverage only may be transferred to the Underwriting Association for shared risk pooling.

The underwriting association would assume all the assets and liabilities and contracts of the Reinsurance Facility as of October 1, 1992. The governing board of the Reinsurance Facility would become the governing board of the association. Policies transferred to the association must be transferred as a whole and not as parts of policies.

This legislation would eliminate the objective standards rate in favor of one base rate. The recoupment fee would be eliminated but replaced by an allocation fee applied to all insured drivers. Policies under the underwriting association would have three rates -- one for drivers qualifying for the Safe Driver Discount; another for drivers with one merit rating point and a third for drivers with two or more merit rating points.

Sunday Opening Expansion (H.4715, Rep. Corning). This legislation would move up retail store openings on Sunday from the current 1:30 p.m. to noon.

Legislative Update, April 14, 1992

Medical, Military, Public and Municipal Affairs

Hospital Charges (H.4702, Rep. Rudnick). This legislation would require hospitals to post in a conspicuous place near the main entrance a list of their standard fees and charges. Violation of this provision could result in a $5,000 fine.

Ways and Means

Government Restructuring Study Committee (H.4681, Rep. Harrelson). This bill would create a study committee to determine whether, and to what extent, restructuring of the state's various state boards, committees agencies and councils is necessary and desirable to maintain the trust in government by the people. The study committee would consist of the Lieutenant Governor, the Attorney General, the Comptroller General, the Secretary of State, five senators, five members of the House, and three gubernatorial appointees. The committee would have 12 months to study the issue and report back its findings to the Governor and General Assembly. Current legislative staff would assist the committee with its work. The study committee would dissolve after reporting its findings to the Governor and Legislature.

LAC and Reorganization Study of Government Restructuring (H.4699, Rep. McElveen). Under this legislation, the Legislative Audit Council and the State Reorganization Commission would study state government to determine if restructuring is desirable and make recommendations. The bill charges the LAC and Reorganization Commission to make recommendations regarding:

- Changes making state government more efficient and accountable to the public;
- Elimination of unnecessary duplication of government services and administration by streamlining state government;
- Consolidation of agency functions and administration when consolidation would be both feasible and desirable;
- The desirability of implementing Total Quality Management (TQM) in state government; and
- A regency system of higher education and other organizational structures of other higher education systems.

Legislative Update, April 14, 1992

The bill directs the LAC to make an audit of state government, and turn the information over to the Reorganization Commission to formulate into recommendations. The legislation recommends the Audit Council and Reorganization Commission give consideration to the recent reports of the Commission on the Future of South Carolina and the Commission on Government Restructuring.

The LAC and Reorganization Commission would be instructed to set aside all current projects until their study was complete. The bill outlines a timetable for the two agencies to follow in carrying out the study. The study would be carried out by functional groups -- first group, Transportation; last group, Literary and Cultural Affairs.

Sales Tax Exemption Prosthetic Devices (H.4704, Rep. Manly). This bill would extend the sales tax exemption on the sale of prescription prosthetic devices to those devices bought by a hospital in order to donate it to a patient.

Road Signs and Just Compensation (H.4711, Rep. Phillips). This legislation would add to the Code a provision of law that would require that just compensation be paid for the removal of any sign in view of an interstate or federal-aid primary highway, which was lawfully erected under state law. The bill states that this provision, which is part of the federal Code, was inadvertently left out of the state statutes.

Without Reference

Drug Interdiction and the National Guard (H.4684, Rep. Wilkins). Under this legislation, the governor could authorize the South Carolina National Guard to assist and support federal, state and local law enforcement in drug interdiction, counter-drug activities and demand reduction. The bill would allow the governor to delegate this authority to the State Adjutant General, who could enter into mutual assistance and support agreements with law enforcement.

Joint Legislative Committees and Staffs

Here is a list of the joint legislative committees. Included are their locations, telephone numbers and staffs, where applicable.

Not all of the 55 joint legislative committees are listed here. Most of the committees featured on this list have some degree of permanence: either they appear in the Legislative Manual, have staffs and offices, or have undertaken on-going issues. If a joint committee and staff not appearing here should be added to, or deleted from, this list, please contact the House Research Office.
